Foreword

To achieve energy security, the world needs clean, affordable, and sustainable energy. It's SSE Renewables' purpose to help deliver it. With renewables now the most cost-effective form of electricity generation, SSE Renewables' growing portfolio will support a more affordable energy future, and ensure countries have the homegrown, sustainable energy needed to boost energy security.

The level of change required to deliver on climate commitments is unprecedented - an industrial revolution is underway. Change of this scale brings social consequences and we must learn lessons from history to make sure that the transition to net zero is fair and just. That is why SSE Renewables has a long and proud history of sharing the economic value from our renewables assets with communities. Our community funds are crucial in supporting the people and places that host this critical renewable energy infrastructure and given their scale, have the potential to transform the social capital of local places.

In 2022/23 we have invested more than £10.4 million in 1,066 community projects. This demonstrates that we deliver on our values, and I am proud that the communities we work with continue to grow their ambition. We work with incredibly resilient communities which continually create opportunities and growth for their local areas. This is highlighted by the varied projects they are adopting to achieve a green future - from aquaponics to community owned wind turbines and retrofit academies. We are delighted to be working collaboratively with these communities as we strive towards net zero.

This year, at SSE Renewables, we mark significant milestones in our work with communities. From the conclusion of our first offshore community fund, with £6 million donated to 361 projects from the Beatrice Community Fund, through to the 10th anniversary of our flagship Sustainable Development Fund. For a decade we have shared the benefits of renewables across wider regions, and we see the socio-economic impact this brings to communities and local economies. Our experience over the last decade highlights that the regions of benefit must be proportionate to the size of investment. Widening the areas of benefit to a national level risks reducing the impact that renewable investment can have on the rural and coastal communities who need it most.

As we secure increased international renewable development and operation, we can share our community experience from both the UK and Ireland and receive reciprocal learnings from across Europe, Asia, America, and Australia. The needs of every community are unique but what remains consistent is their resilience and ambition for the future.

Investment against UN Sustainable Development Goals

Achieving our priorities

2022/23 has been a year of growth and development for SSE Renewables' community commitments. We have begun to develop community funds for a range of onshore and offshore sites and looked at how we support communities for our international locations. To meet the growing demands of the programme, we have implemented a new management structure and recruited new employees with substantial community development and grant management experience. We achieved the following priorities in the last year:

Green transition – in the last year, communities have been increasing their focus on reducing carbon intensity. This highlights the collective action needed to achieve a just transition. Over £3 million has been donated to projects which support a green future including electric community vehicles, insulation for households in extreme fuel poverty (p7) and testing new and innovative approaches to agriculture (p9).

Improved reporting – to prepare for the growing value of the investment portfolio, we have completed a procurement exercise to implement a new grant management system. This is expected to enter into operation across the funds in 2023/34.

Tackling the rise in cost of living – our funds have been supporting communities to deal with to deal with rising costs. This has included funding additional advice services, increasing funding for capital projects, and supporting community warm space schemes (p16).

New sites – SSE Renewables has continued to develop its pipeline to meet demand for local, green energy sources. Community consultations have started for the Lenalea Community Fund in Ireland. Discussions for the shared ownership of Strathy South Wind Farm in the Scottish Highlands have progressed with Johnston Carmichael being selected as independent consultants to support the discussions.

Completion of Beatrice Community Fund – A joint venture partnership with RRPL, TRIG and Equitix, Beatrice, SSE Renewables' first offshore wind farm in the UK has first offshore wind farm has provided a community fund worth £6 million, with the final awards being made in 2023. The impact report (p19) highlighted that 91% of funded projects are still benefiting communities.

Priorities

Offshore community benefit – we are actively participating in the Scottish Government working group to update the Good Practice Principles for Community Benefits from Offshore Renewables which will be published in 2023/24.

Regional funding – SSE Renewables' flagship Sustainable Development Fund will mark its 10th anniversary in 2023 with the publication of an impact report. The anniversary highlights the impact that renewable community commitments can have across wider communities. However, for this funding to achieve true impact, the region must be proportionate to the level of investment.

Viking Community Fund – Shetland Community Benefit Fund will publish the finding of their community consultation in 2023 which will identify the priorities for the Viking Community Fund once the wind farm becomes operational in 2024. The fund will be worth an anticipated £2.2 million per year.

New grant management – we will implement a new, tailored grant management system. The system will reduce the information needed from groups who re-apply for funds and will improve the efficiency of grant making decisions and the payment of funds. The system will be able to provide ESG and social impact reports.

Shared ownership – we will continue to progress our commitment to shared ownership by advancing discussions with the communities near the Strathy South Wind Farm.

International provision – we will use the experience developed in both the UK and Ireland to help share learning for our international growth. We will build community commitments which reflect the needs of the specific countries and regions. We will facilitate networks so communities across our international operations can share learning and experience.

SSE Renewables' Community Commitments

SSE Renewables is an international developer and operator, and we pledge to deliver impactful commitments to communities across the countries in which we operate.

Core to our operations are the following principles:

Value based approach – our commitment to communities and sustainability is embedded in our corporate values.

Focused on communities – we know local people are the experts of their own area and we will work with them to provide flexible interventions.

Transparency – we will treat communities with respect and provide honest, open, and meaningful engagement at all stages of our relationships with them. We ensure we are inclusive of all the community.

Lasting Legacy – we focus on what communities need now and in the future. We aspire to ensure that communities are left in a sustainable position after our interventions. We prioritise supporting communities' green transition.

Good Governance – we commit to an approach which builds trust with communities and uses proportionate management approaches.

Based on the specific needs of both the United Kingdom and Ireland we further deliver to the following principles:

Place-based funder – focusing on the areas near our renewable development sites and the specific needs of the communities within these areas. We ensure agency for the specific needs of the local area.

Flexible funding – understanding that the environment around projects can change. We respond quickly to emerging local issues and changing priorities.

Social Impact – we commit to using proportionate and meaningful measures to report on our impact against the UN Sustainable Development Goals and on our sustainability commitments.

Types of SSE Renewables community funds:

Local funds – empowering the communities nearest to wind farms to develop and enhance the services, assets, and activities their residents need now and for the future.

Regional funds – sharing the benefits of renewables with wider communities. The regional funds invest in transformational projects which provide socio-economic growth for lasting impact.

Scholarships – supporting local students undertaking STEM degrees to ensure local regions have the workforce of tomorrow.

Skills projects – ensuring that communities have the skills they need for the future including training projects for school children, employment schemes and apprenticeships.

Regional Funds

The regional funds support the local authority areas in which we operate wind farms and help to share the value of renewables by investing in transformational projects supporting communities for years to come. The funding decisions are made by independent panels.

41 Projects

"The Sustainable Development Panel takes a strategic approach to supporting communities in their transition to Net Zero. We have financially supported significant projects that have improved efficient green energy use, created jobs, and preserved our environment and our heritage. We are very pleased that these projects have made such a difference."
Lord Jack McConnell, Chair, Sustainable Development Fund

Alleviating extreme fuel poverty

£1m
from Highland Sustainable Development Fund

Living with fuel poverty has far reaching impacts, particularly on health and wellbeing, as well as learning, employment, and social networks. Highland communities face worse extreme fuel poverty than residents in other areas of Scotland, with 22% of homes impacted compared to a national average of 11%. To help reduce the impact within the Highlands, the Sustainable Development Fund panel made its largest award of £1 million to support the Highland Energy Efficiency Programme which provides energy efficiency measures including solar, battery, air source heating and insulation to households in extreme fuel poverty. The support from the Sustainable Development Fund will enable 250 households to have warmer and more efficient homes.

"Highland is experiencing some of the highest levels of fuel poverty in Scotland. We are delighted by the grant support from SSE Renewables which will help us deliver efficiency savings to those households most in need."
Cllr Raymond Bremner, Leader of Highland Council

Creating low carbon community buildings

£150,000

from Highland Sustainable Development Fund

13 CLIMATE ACTION

"We were absolutely delighted to have received funding from SSE Renewables for the Haven Centre Project. The Haven Centre will be Scotland's first integrated play centre and respite facility for children and young adults with severe and complex needs and disabilities."

Kirstin Mackay, Programme Manager, The Elsie Normington Foundation

The Elsie Normington Foundation has built a new specialist centre for children and young people with learning disabilities in Inverness. The facilities include an indoor and outdoor play centre, respite flats to allow parents regular overnight breaks from their caring responsibilities, and a community café which provides supported training opportunities for disabled young adults.

The support from the Sustainable Development Fund has enabled the centre and flats to benefit from an air source heat pump heating system which will help to reduce the carbon emissions of the project. The project will support 1,385 children and young adults up to the age of 30, who have severe or profound learning-disabilities and their families.

Training the frontline

£101,332

from Highland Sustainable Development Fund

13 CLIMATE ACTION

In response to the need to reach more people during the cost-of-living challenges, Thurso Community Development Trust has developed the Community Energy Support Training Programme. The project gives training to frontline grassroots community-based staff and volunteers throughout the Highlands and equips them to identify residents who may be experiencing issues. The frontline workers learn to deliver conversations within the community about energy and fuel poverty and confidently signpost residents to further support. The project will engage 400 of the organisations and train 2,000 frontline staff and volunteers over a two-year period.

13 CLIMATE ACTION

Supporting innovative green projects

"The SSE Renewables funding Gro for Good CIC received enabled us to launch our Community Innovation Campus. The ground-breaking project is designed to contribute a cascade of benefits to the circular economy and our local communities. The SSE Renewables funding has encouraged other organisations to financially contribute a further £450,000 to date, with more expected soon."

Hugh Fullerton-Smith, Managing Director, Gro for Good CIC.

£75,000

from Highland Sustainable Development Fund

Gro for Good supports the transition to sustainable agriculture methods in the Highlands. Gro for Good will install an 'interpretive dome' on the innovation campus in Tain which will provide information on consumer awareness and behavioural change surrounding food and drink in relation to net zero. It will showcase Gro for Good's Scottish Green Energy Award winning aquaponics food growing approach. Aquaponics is a food production approach that has been practiced since 10,000AD, is incredibly energy and water efficient, and can provide a huge diverse range of crops, year-round and in spaces that traditional methods would not typically work in. It is set up using growing beds and fish tanks and uses waste from one element to benefit the other. The site aims to inspire up to 50,000 visitors.

Local Funds

SSE Renewables provides local community funds to support the communities nearest the renewable asset. The local funds are administered by either panels made of local community members or by community trusts. The funds focus on priority themes as identified during a community consultation.

Impact against UN Sustainable Development Goals

Case Studies

Stronelaig Community Fund – The Scottish Huntington’s Association received £8,953 to provide specialist support to local people living with Huntington’s disease.

Achany Community Fund - Lochview Rural Training received £10,000 to support a rural training centre in Sutherland.

Clyde Borders Community Fund – Tweedsmuir Community Company received £23,100 to develop community owned camping pods.

Case Studies

Clyde Dumfries and Galloway Community Fund – Nith Valley Leaf Trust received £25,000 to purchase a community owned shop, Viking Community Fund – Skeld and District Community Hall received £44,581 to instal a wind turbine.

Drumderg Community Fund – the Kirkmichael Community Garden project received £10,000 to establish community allotments.

Investing in traditional music

£52,040
awarded from Strathly North Fund

“The summer Fèis week has put the north coast on the map as one of the most attractive Fèisean to be held throughout the year. Without the funding from SSE Renewables, we simply could not provide this caliber of events and experiences which brings a week of musical and cultural events to all generations of people along the North Coast.”

Mhairi Magee, Secretary, Feis air an Oir

Catching a wave in Shetland

£388,394
awarded from Viking Community Fund

The Viking Community Fund will be the UK's largest onshore community benefit fund worth circa £72 million over its lifetime, including a four-year advanced fund to provide early grants and complete a community consultation. The fund is managed by Shetland Community Benefit Fund and supports all 18 community council areas in Shetland. In the last year, 67 projects have been supported from enhancing the marina in Aith to expanding a tree nursery in Stanley Hill. The fund provides new opportunities for the region, such as the support for the Scottish Surfing Federation's 'Gathering of the Clans'. For the first time the event was held in Shetland and attracted surfers from across Scotland and further afield to tackle the waves at Sumburgh.

"The Viking Community Fund has supported projects across all our islands and communities. Two things are particularly pleasing – firstly, the substantial additional funds from other sources that our support has helped release and, while it is always good to see the major projects, it is the small applications that are particularly important because these nearly always have benefits to a community that far outweigh the cost of the grant."

Chris Bunyan, Chairperson, Shetland Community Benefit Fund

Creating inclusive opportunities

4 QUALITY EDUCATION

£17,552
awarded from Griffin and Calliachar Community Fund

Autistic people have some very valuable skills which can be applied in the workplace but very often they need support to help ensure their employment suits their personal requirements. Perth Autism Support helps 32 autistic young people in rural areas to overcome barriers by providing employability coaching, work placements and certificated training. The young person receives coaching from a peer with lived experience to help manage their transition to work. The project also provides support for local employers to successfully manage autistic staff including providing specialist understanding autism/neurodiversity training. The project supports the local economy by allowing the skills and strengths of young people to remain in the communities thus creating a strong, diverse workforce with a range of abilities.

"The Griffin and Calliachar funding allowed us to deliver supported employability opportunities to autistic young people. The funding allowed young people to attain SQA Employability Awards and work experience with local employers. We saw a significant change in our young people, who grew in confidence and could allow their strengths and skills to flourish".

Angie Ferguson, Chief Executive, Perth Autism Support

Developing community ambitions

£20,000
awarded from Stronelaig
Community Fund

Many communities who benefit from wind farms have great ambition and goals but find it challenging to implement ideas due to volunteer capacity. Spean Bridge, Roy Bridge and Achnacarry SCIO chose to employ a part time Community Development Officer to help them progress their ambition. Tony helps develop and enhance community projects and establish local initiatives. In his first year in post, he has developed a community website and social media presence, completed a community consultation, and developed a community action plan for the next five years. He provides fundraising and management support to a range of community projects and establishes new community initiatives such as warm space lunches.

“Spean Bridge, Roy Bridge and Achnacarry SCIO are most grateful for the award from the Stronelaig Community Fund which together with match funding has allowed the trustees to employ a part time Community Development Officer.”
John Fotheringham, Chairperson, Spean Bridge, Roy Bridge and Achnacarry SCIO

Developing tomorrow's workforce

£195,258
invested in apprenticeships

“The scheme has been great for my business, as I have been able to take on more jobs through having extra help, jobs get done quickly and leave customers happy.”
Gavin Mackenzie, Director, GKM Roofing

Investing in young people remains a central focus for community funds. There are five rural apprenticeship programmes supported by the funds. The apprenticeship programmes match a local young person with a key local business and ensure that there are viable employment opportunities to retain young people in the local area thus ensuring that the local economy benefits from thriving local businesses.

In 2022/23 the apprenticeship schemes have had a focus on supporting key industries which are recovering after the pandemic and impacted by inflation increases including hospitality, whisky, and house building. The types of apprenticeships supported include joinery, plumbing, quantity surveying and spirit operations.

Jordan's apprenticeship with GKM Roofing has been supported by the Gordonbush Apprenticeship Project. The apprenticeship has been perfect for Jordan as it enabled him to continue living in his local village and gain skills in a key local sector.

Helping when it is needed most

£9,750
awarded from the Keadby Community Fund

Many communities have faced unexpected pressure on local projects when higher inflation increased the costs of goods and services. The panels and community trusts have ensured the community funds have been available to support groups during this time including providing additional grants for increased capital costs and delivering workshops to support funding applications. The panel of the Keadby Community Fund in North Lincolnshire supported an application to fund a Winter Warmth Scheme across the local parishes over the winter months. The project enabled local halls and venues to open to provide warm lunches and social activities to vulnerable residents. The scheme also enabled local people to access signposting and support from local agencies. The project was a significant support to local residents and was delivered in eight local communities.

“The panel of the Keadby Community Fund in North Lincolnshire supported the Winter Warmth schemes which enabled local halls and venues to open to provide warm lunches, snacks and social activities to vulnerable residents. We are pleased to have been in a position to help and thank all of the volunteers for their hard work.”
Cllr Julie Reid, Keadby Community Fund Chair

Offshore funds

SSE Renewables has the largest offshore wind development pipeline across GB and Ireland and works with Joint Venture partners (p52) to deliver impact to the coastal communities near our assets.

£1 million

Creating facilities for children and families

£120,000
awarded from the Seagreen Community Fund

Many of the communities the community funds support have ageing populations and a common priority for funds is developing the services and assets which would attract young families to their area. A public consultation in the village of Wellbank identified that the current play facilities were 40 years old and that an upgrade to the facility would encourage children and families to spend more time outside, as well as provide a space for the community to come together without having to travel by car. Local children were involved in the planning of the playpark which has quad swings, a beam course, and a pavilion shelter.

“Murroes and Wellbank Community Council has been looking to develop something like this for many years. The Seagreen Community funding has been fantastic and a great help in making this happen. We can see the children love the playpark and it has been a great for the local community.”
Steve Anderson, Murroes and Wellbank Community Council

Building better futures

£100,000
awarded from Dogger Bank
Community Fund

"I wholeheartedly welcome the 'Building Our Future' primary careers programme and hope it inspires every one of the 11,000 primary pupils in Redcar and Cleveland to become a new generation – inspired, confident and optimistic."

Jacob Young, MP for Redcar

The Dogger Bank Community Fund is investing £1 million during the construction of the wind farm with a focus on increasing STEM attainment in local communities. In Redcar and Cleveland, a new STEM careers programme 'Building Our Futures' has been supported to embed STEM careers education within every primary school. Schools gain a career audit, expert professional development for staff and governors and the delivery of a six module careers programme. Each school is partnered with a local STEM employer who provides practical sessions for children including sessions on STEM careers and an interactive STEM challenge. The programme ensures children have the skills and knowledge to access the jobs of the future.

48 schools supported

Concluding the Beatrice Community Fund

£6 million
awarded to local communities

The Beatrice Community Fund was the first offshore wind farm fund delivered by SSE Renewables and partners (p52). The fund has supported 361 local projects including helping 73 rural jobs and enhancing 64 community assets. An evaluation of the fund highlighted that 91% of projects supported are still in operation and 100% of respondents would recommend offshore funds to other communities. A key success of the fund has been the agility in responding to local priorities and issues including providing emergency funding during the coronavirus pandemic. The fund has also safeguarded local assets such as the East Beach Bridge in Lossiemouth. In 2019, access to the local beach was closed for safety reasons and the Beatrice Community Fund provided emergency funding of £50,000 to Lossiemouth Community Development Trust to start a £1.8 million infrastructure project to restore access. The beach is estimated to contribute £1.5 million to the local economy each year.

"Throughout the period of the Beatrice Partnership Fund we saw outstanding projects delivered by people for their communities along the east Highland and Moray coasts. These projects will make a lasting difference and leave a legacy for the benefit of so many who live in and visit the area. I'm grateful to my fellow panel members for their time and guidance in making the awards and wish all the projects every success for the future."

Fraser Grieve, Chairperson, Beatrice Partnership Fund

Northern Ireland

SSE Renewables is Northern Ireland's largest generator of wind power and operates community funds for three wind farms: Bessy Bell, Tievenameenta, and Slieve Kirk Wind Park.

£500,000 awarded to

112 Projects

Supporting energy efficient communities

"The funding received from SSE Renewables increase our overall energy efficiency and sustainability. The provision enabled us to further support tenant businesses and to provide workshops targeting the unemployed and disadvantaged groups."
Martin Devlin, Manager, Roe Valley Enterprise.

13 CLIMATE ACTION

£2,000
awarded from the Slieve Kirk Community Fund

To achieve Northern Ireland's 2050 net zero targets all areas of our community need to act. One of the key changes that community groups can take is decarbonising their heating. Roo Valley Enterprise is a charity who works for the benefit of the local community by supporting community enterprise and enhancing local developments. Roo Valley Enterprise has a sustainability ambition and were an early adopter of solar electricity to both reduce their electricity bills but also their carbon usage. To help them enhance this provision they received funding to install a battery which will enable them to store excess energy.

Republic of Ireland

SSE Renewables is the Ireland's clean energy champion with 700MW of operational onshore wind farms. These include Ireland's largest wind farm, the 174MW Galway Wind Park in Connemara, County Galway, which is co-owned with Greencoat Renewables.

Excellence in decarbonised training

To achieve meaningful and lasting climate action in Ireland we need to ensure households across the country achieve home energy upgrades. The requirement for home retrofits is at the centre of the country's climate priorities, including new national retrofit targets. To respond to this national requirement there is a need for a significant upskilling of installers to meet the increasing demand for the improvements.

Comhairle Ceantar na nOileán received €110,000 to establish the Low Carbon and Sustainability Centre of Excellence in Casla. The centre will create new sustainable economic opportunities that will contribute to the economic, social, and environmental sustainability of the region by supporting the re-skilling of workers and supporting homeowners to complete improvements. The centre will provide skills in emerging retrofit technologies including solar PV, external wall insulation and ventilation. The project will train 280 professionals per annum and support the energy improvement of up to 10,000 local homes.

€110,000
awarded from the Galway Major Project Fund

"In Galway, the waiting list for energy efficient home upgrades is nearly 2 years. Through the development of this training centre, timeframes for upgrades will be reduced with the project having the potential to impact over 30,000 individuals and more than 10,000 homes and contribute towards Ireland's net zero goal"

Patrick McHugh, Director, Comhairle Ceantar na nOileán.

Shetland and Orkney

Approximately £72.7m will be invested by two wind farms, the funds include SSE Renewables largest fund, Viking Community Fund.

Viking

The Viking Community Fund will provide an estimated £72m to invest in local projects over its lifetime. The fund is administered by Shetland Community Benefit Fund.

The fund, established in 2020, will benefit the 22,990 people who live on Shetland.
